

From: Dr. Steven Caponegro, Superintendent <no-reply@fpks.org>

Subject: Thursday 2/18/21 (Live Streamed Synchronous Day - Weather)

---

Dear Parents/Guardians and Staff,

Due to the anticipated weather forecast, and for the safety of our staff and students, the Florham Park School District will have a 100% fully-remote, live streamed synchronous learning day tomorrow, Thursday, February 18th. All students and staff will follow the same daily schedule that is currently in place. Teachers will provide virtual meeting information via Google Classroom and/or email. Students must participate remotely to receive attendance credit for the school day. Please contact your child's teacher if you have any questions about their classes. Should you have any concerns or special circumstances, please feel free to contact your child's school.

The Work-Family Connection will be closed tomorrow, Thursday, February 18th.

Thank you for your understanding and continued cooperation. Please travel safely.

-Dr. Caponegro

As per the Morris County Office of Emergency Management - The National Weather Service has issued both a Hazardous Weather Outlook as well as a Winter Storm Watch which remains in effect from late tonight through Friday afternoon. The storm system is slated to bring yet another round of snow and ice that is on track to move across the area starting early tomorrow morning and persist through Friday. The forecasted snowfall accumulations (location dependent) are 5 – 8". As of right now, snow is anticipated to begin developing early Thursday morning and begin moving out of the area Friday evening. Travel may be difficult at times throughout the duration of the storm with hazardous conditions that may impact the morning or evening commute.